

• • THE ULTIMATE • • BACKLOT of ASIA

THAILAND

Some Places are Destinations.

Thailand is a Production Universe.

From neon-lit city streets and ancient temples to misty mountains, tropical islands, and cinematic coastlines, Thailand offers an extraordinary range of locations within a single country. Crews can capture multiple worlds, cultures, and visual identities—all within a few hours of travel.

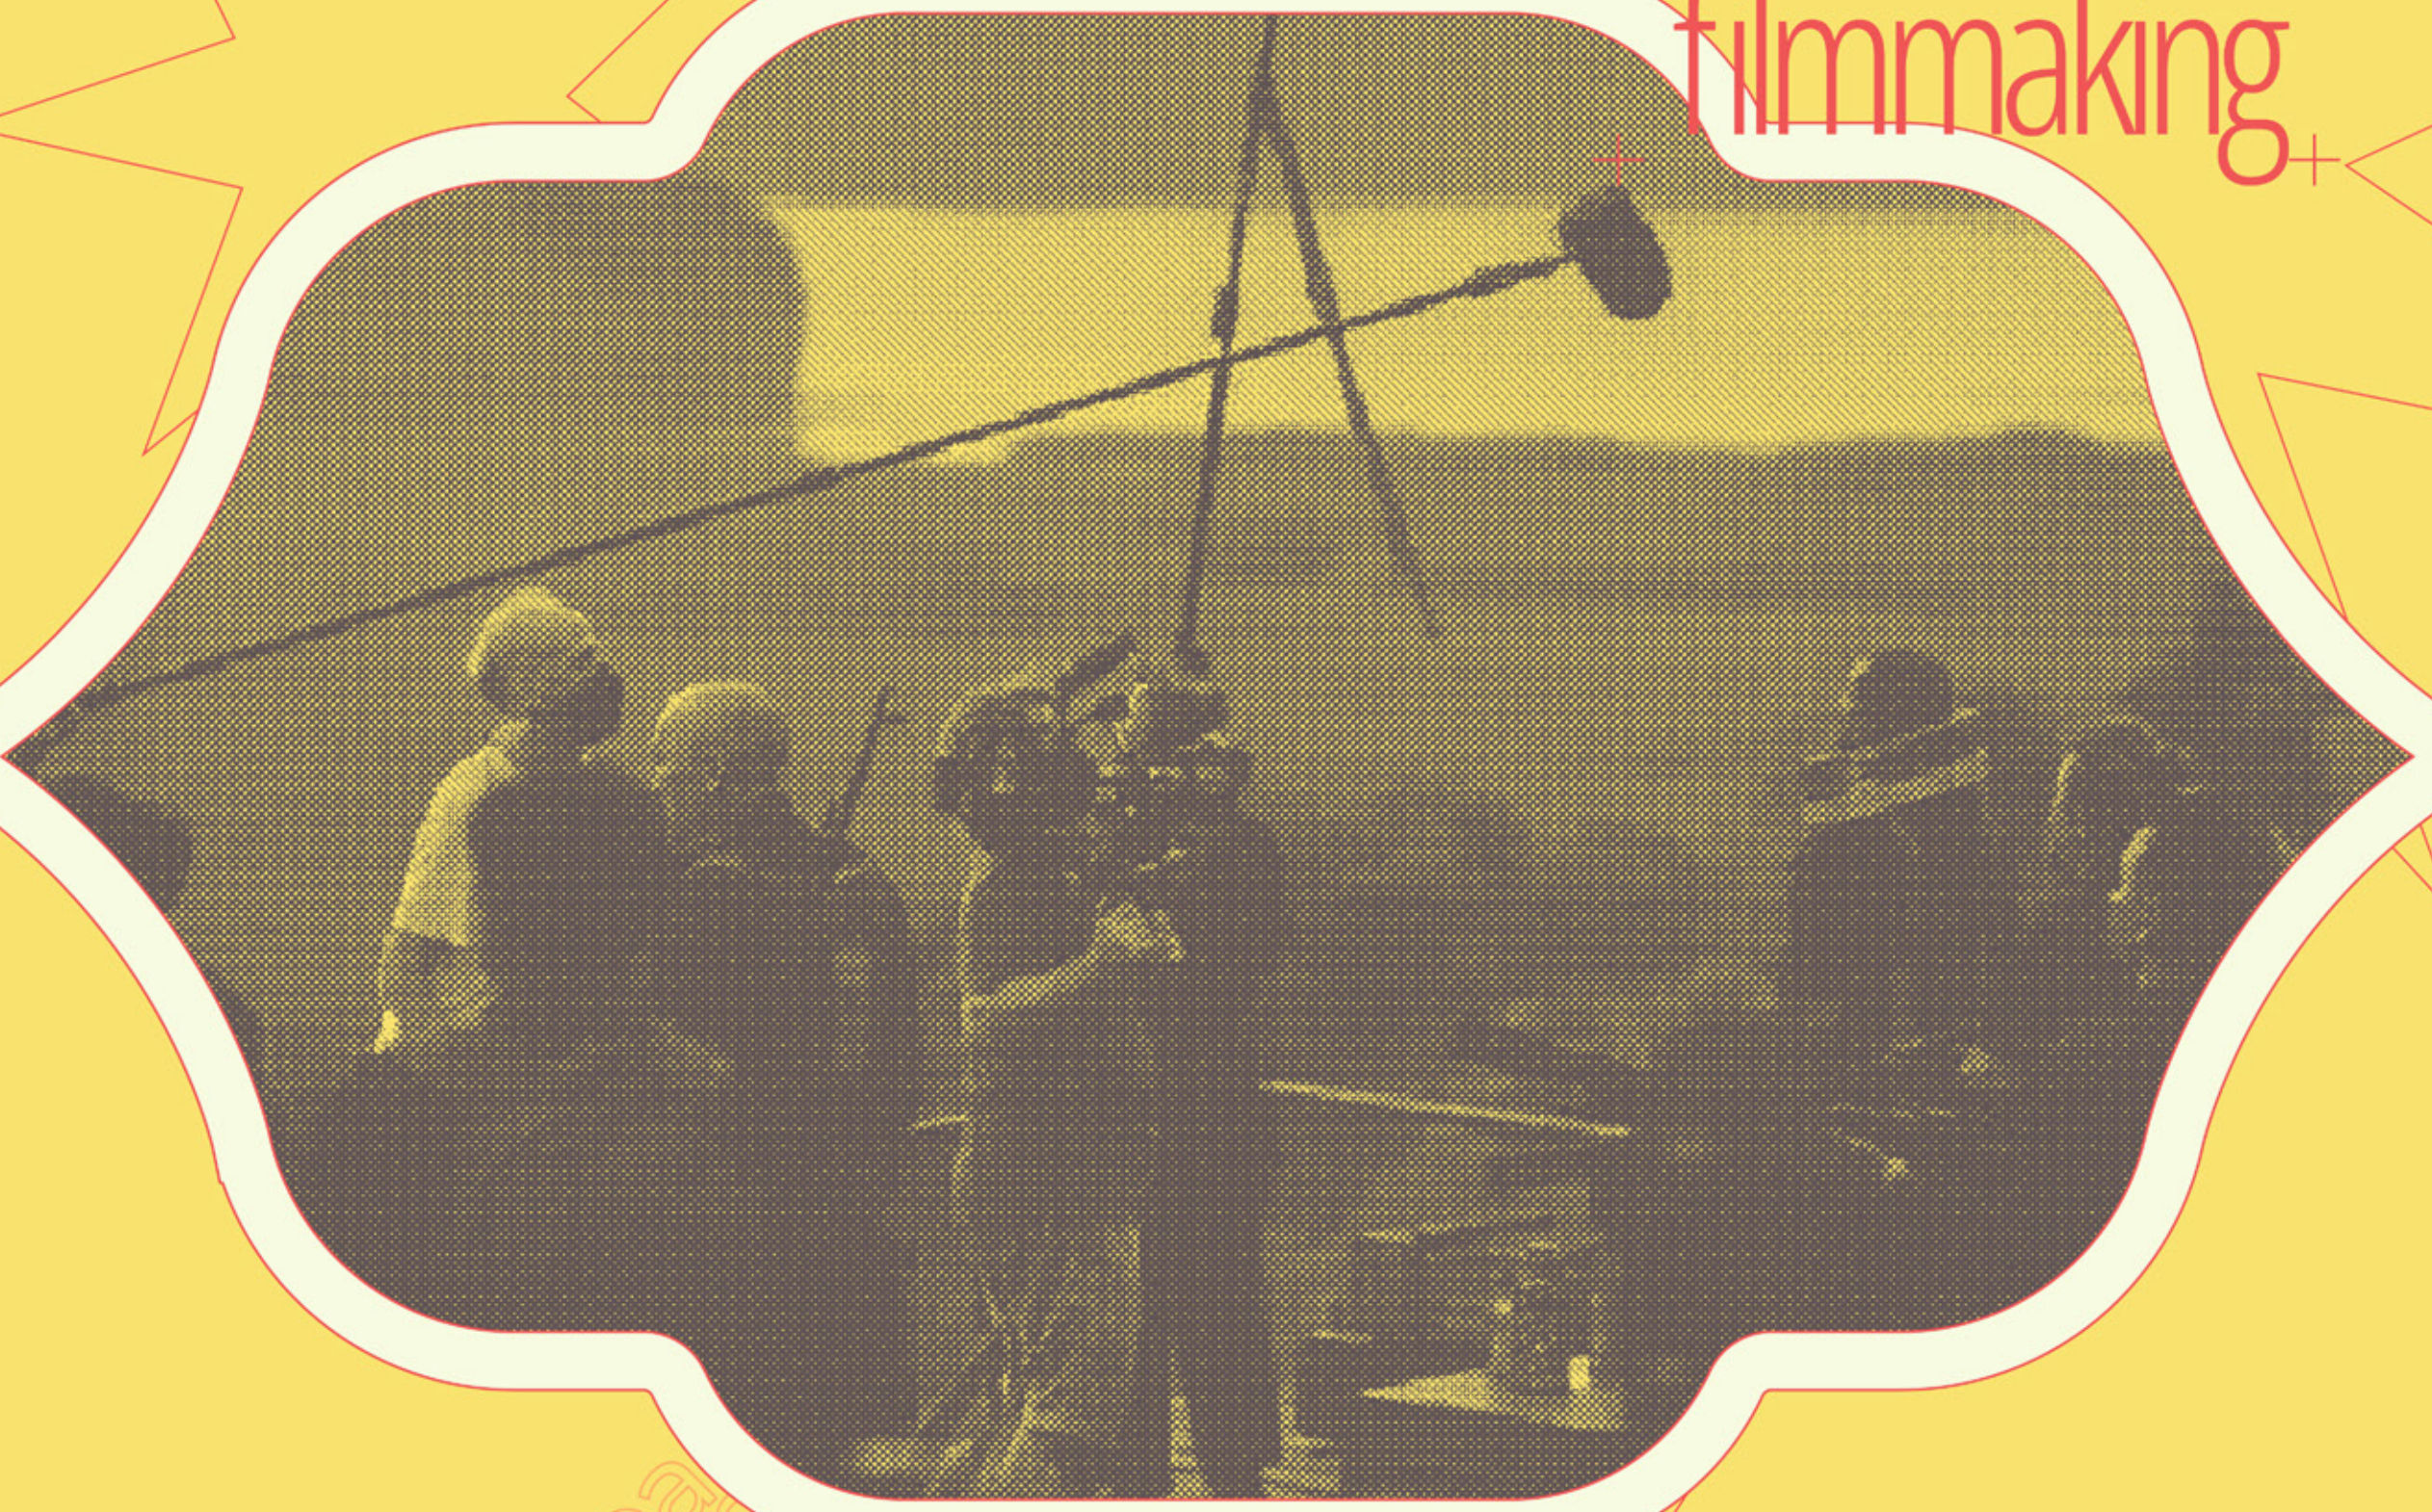

Thailand's well-developed transportation network makes moving between locations efficient and production-friendly. Major international airports in Bangkok, Phuket, Chiang Mai, and other regional hubs provide easy access for cast, crew, and equipment arriving from around the world. Domestic flights connect key filming regions quickly, while modern highways and ferry services make it possible to reach beaches, islands, mountain villages, and urban centers with minimal downtime.

Productions can often schedule multiple location types within a single shooting itinerary, reducing travel costs and maximizing shooting days. Local production service companies are experienced in coordinating permits, logistics, transportation, accommodations, and equipment movement, helping international teams navigate the country smoothly and efficiently.

filmmaking

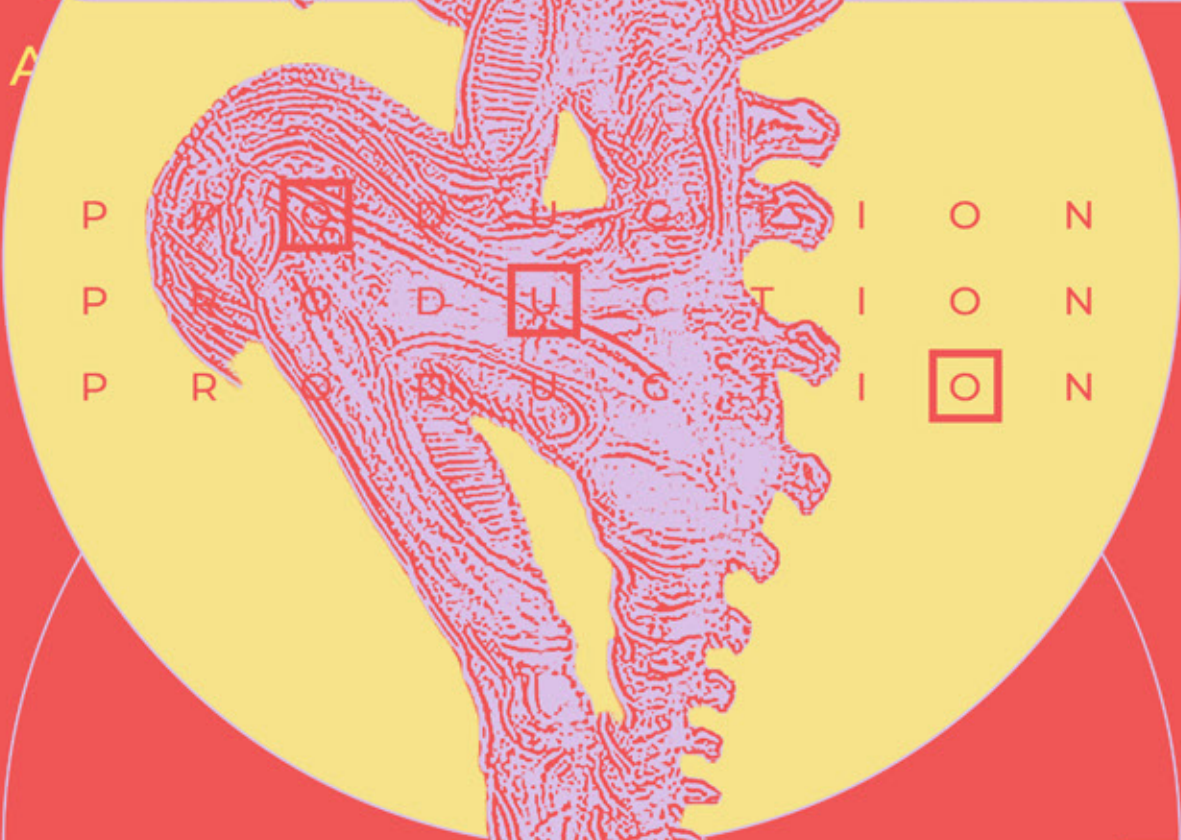

P R O D U C T I O N
P R O D U C T I O N
P R O D U C T I O N

But Thailand is more than just a beautiful backdrop. It is one of Asia's leading production hubs, home to world-class crews, advanced studios, virtual production facilities, and decades of international filmmaking expertise.

Thailand has appeared on screen as everything from bustling megacities and remote jungles to fictional nations and futuristic worlds. Productions often choose Thailand not just for what it is—but for what it can become.

• • • • • THAILAND PRODUCTION • • • • •

The Alien franchise has used Thailand's dramatic caves and limestone landscapes to help create the atmosphere of distant worlds. Jurassic Park and related dinosaur adventures have showcased Thailand's lush jungles and tropical scenery as prehistoric environments. Marvel productions have also filmed in Thailand, transforming its streets, coastlines, and natural landscapes into locations across the Marvel Cinematic Universe.

Here, every location tells a story. Every frame reveals a new possibility. And every production finds a destination ready for its next scene.

WHY

THAILAND

Everything, Everywhere
All in One Destination.

Thailand is a filmmaker's paradise. In one country, you can capture tropical beaches, dramatic mountains, dense jungles, vibrant cities, and ancient temples – all within hours of each other. Its incredible diversity means one location can double for many places around the world.

Beyond stunning scenery, Thailand offers skilled crews, modern studios, and strong government support for international productions. High-quality production comes at competitive costs, helping filmmakers stretch their budgets without sacrificing excellence.

Add in rich culture, breathtaking visuals, and the warm hospitality of the “Land of Smiles,” and Thailand becomes more than just a filming location – it becomes the perfect stage for unforgettable stories.

WHERE IT SITS IN THE REGION

Thailand sits right in the heart of Southeast Asia. It's like the region's natural crossroads! Thailand is surrounded by Myanmar, Laos, Cambodia, and Malaysia – and it even has coastlines on two different seas: the Andaman Sea and the Gulf of Thailand.

Because of its central location, Thailand is often called the “Gateway to ASEAN.” You can reach many major Asian cities within just a few hours by flight. That's one reason it's such a hotspot for travel, business, and international film productions.

RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE OF IT ALL — THAILAND
TRULY CONNECTS THE REGION.

GEOGRAPHY, WITHOUT THE DISTANCE

MULTIPLE LANDSCAPES IN ONE COUNTRY.

In the north, misty mountains and cool highlands are covered with forests and hill tribe villages.

The northeast features wide plateaus and the powerful Mekong River shaping rural life.

Central Thailand is the nation's heartland. It's a vast, fertile plain shaped by the Chao Phraya River. This region is home to Bangkok, the dynamic capital where glittering skyscrapers rise beside golden temples and traditional canal communities.

In the south, dramatic limestone cliffs tower over turquoise waters, and tropical islands offer postcard-perfect beaches.

Thailand is one of the few countries in the world with coastlines on two different seas — the Andaman Sea and the Gulf of Thailand — giving you two completely different ocean landscapes in one country!

LANGUAGE, * PEOPLE *

AND HOW WORK GETS DONE

Thailand-Based.

World-Class Production.

Thai people are known for their warmth, respect, and collaborative spirit. The country's strong service culture means crews are hardworking, adaptable, and solution-oriented. Thai teams are experienced in handling international standards with professionalism and flexibility.

CLIMATE, SEASONS & SHOOTABILITY

365-day shootability.
One destination.

THAILAND

THAILAND DOESNT HAVE AN OFF-SEASON.

It has different moods.

Cool Season (Nov–Feb)
clean skies, sharp light, prime-time conditions.

Hot Season (Mar–May)
high sun, long days, heat that hits the frame.

Green Season (Jun–Oct)
lush landscapes, dramatic clouds, rain that resets the scene in minutes.

With varied geography – beaches, jungles, mountains, and modern cityscapes – productions can adapt schedules and locations efficiently within a single country.

RAINFALL PATTERNS

Rain in Thailand isn't a shutdown.
It's a schedule adjustment.

The Green Season (Jun-Oct) brings tropical showers typically short, intense bursts rather than all-day washouts. Mornings are often clear.

Storms roll through. Skies reset. Light softens.
Landscapes turn cinematic.

For production, that means:

- Flexible call times
- Quick weather windows
- Dramatic cloud formations
- Richer greens, fuller waterfalls, mood-driven visuals

Coastal and southern regions may see heavier rainfall, while other areas remain highly shootable with smart planning.

IN THAILAND, RAIN
ISN'T THE ENEMY.

6am

9am

11am

1pm

3pm

5pm

6pm

DAYLIGHT HOURS

no extreme seasonal swings, no unpredictable short winter days.

Expect approximately 11–13 hours of daylight daily, with sunrise typically between 6:00–6:45 AM and sunset around 6:00–6:45 PM, depending on the season.

CONSISTENT SUN.
CONSISTENT MOMENTUM.

28°

29°

30°

33°

32°

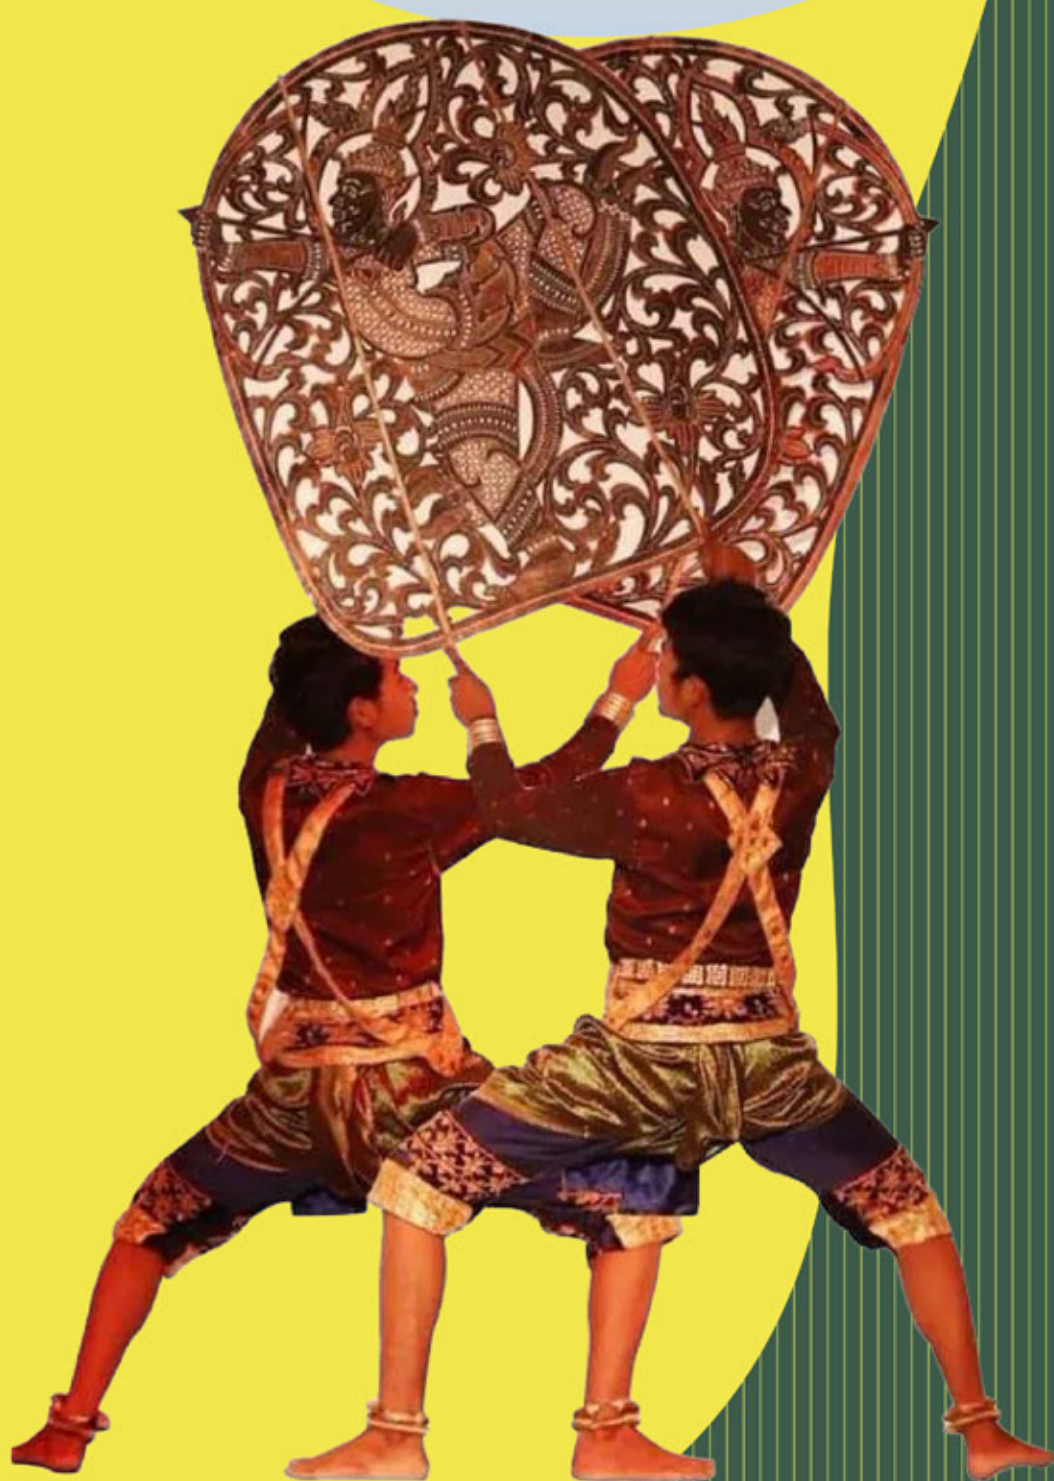

31°

30°

V I S U A L R A N G E

VISUAL RANGE

THAILAND IS BUILT FOR MOVEMENT.

V I S U A L R A N G E

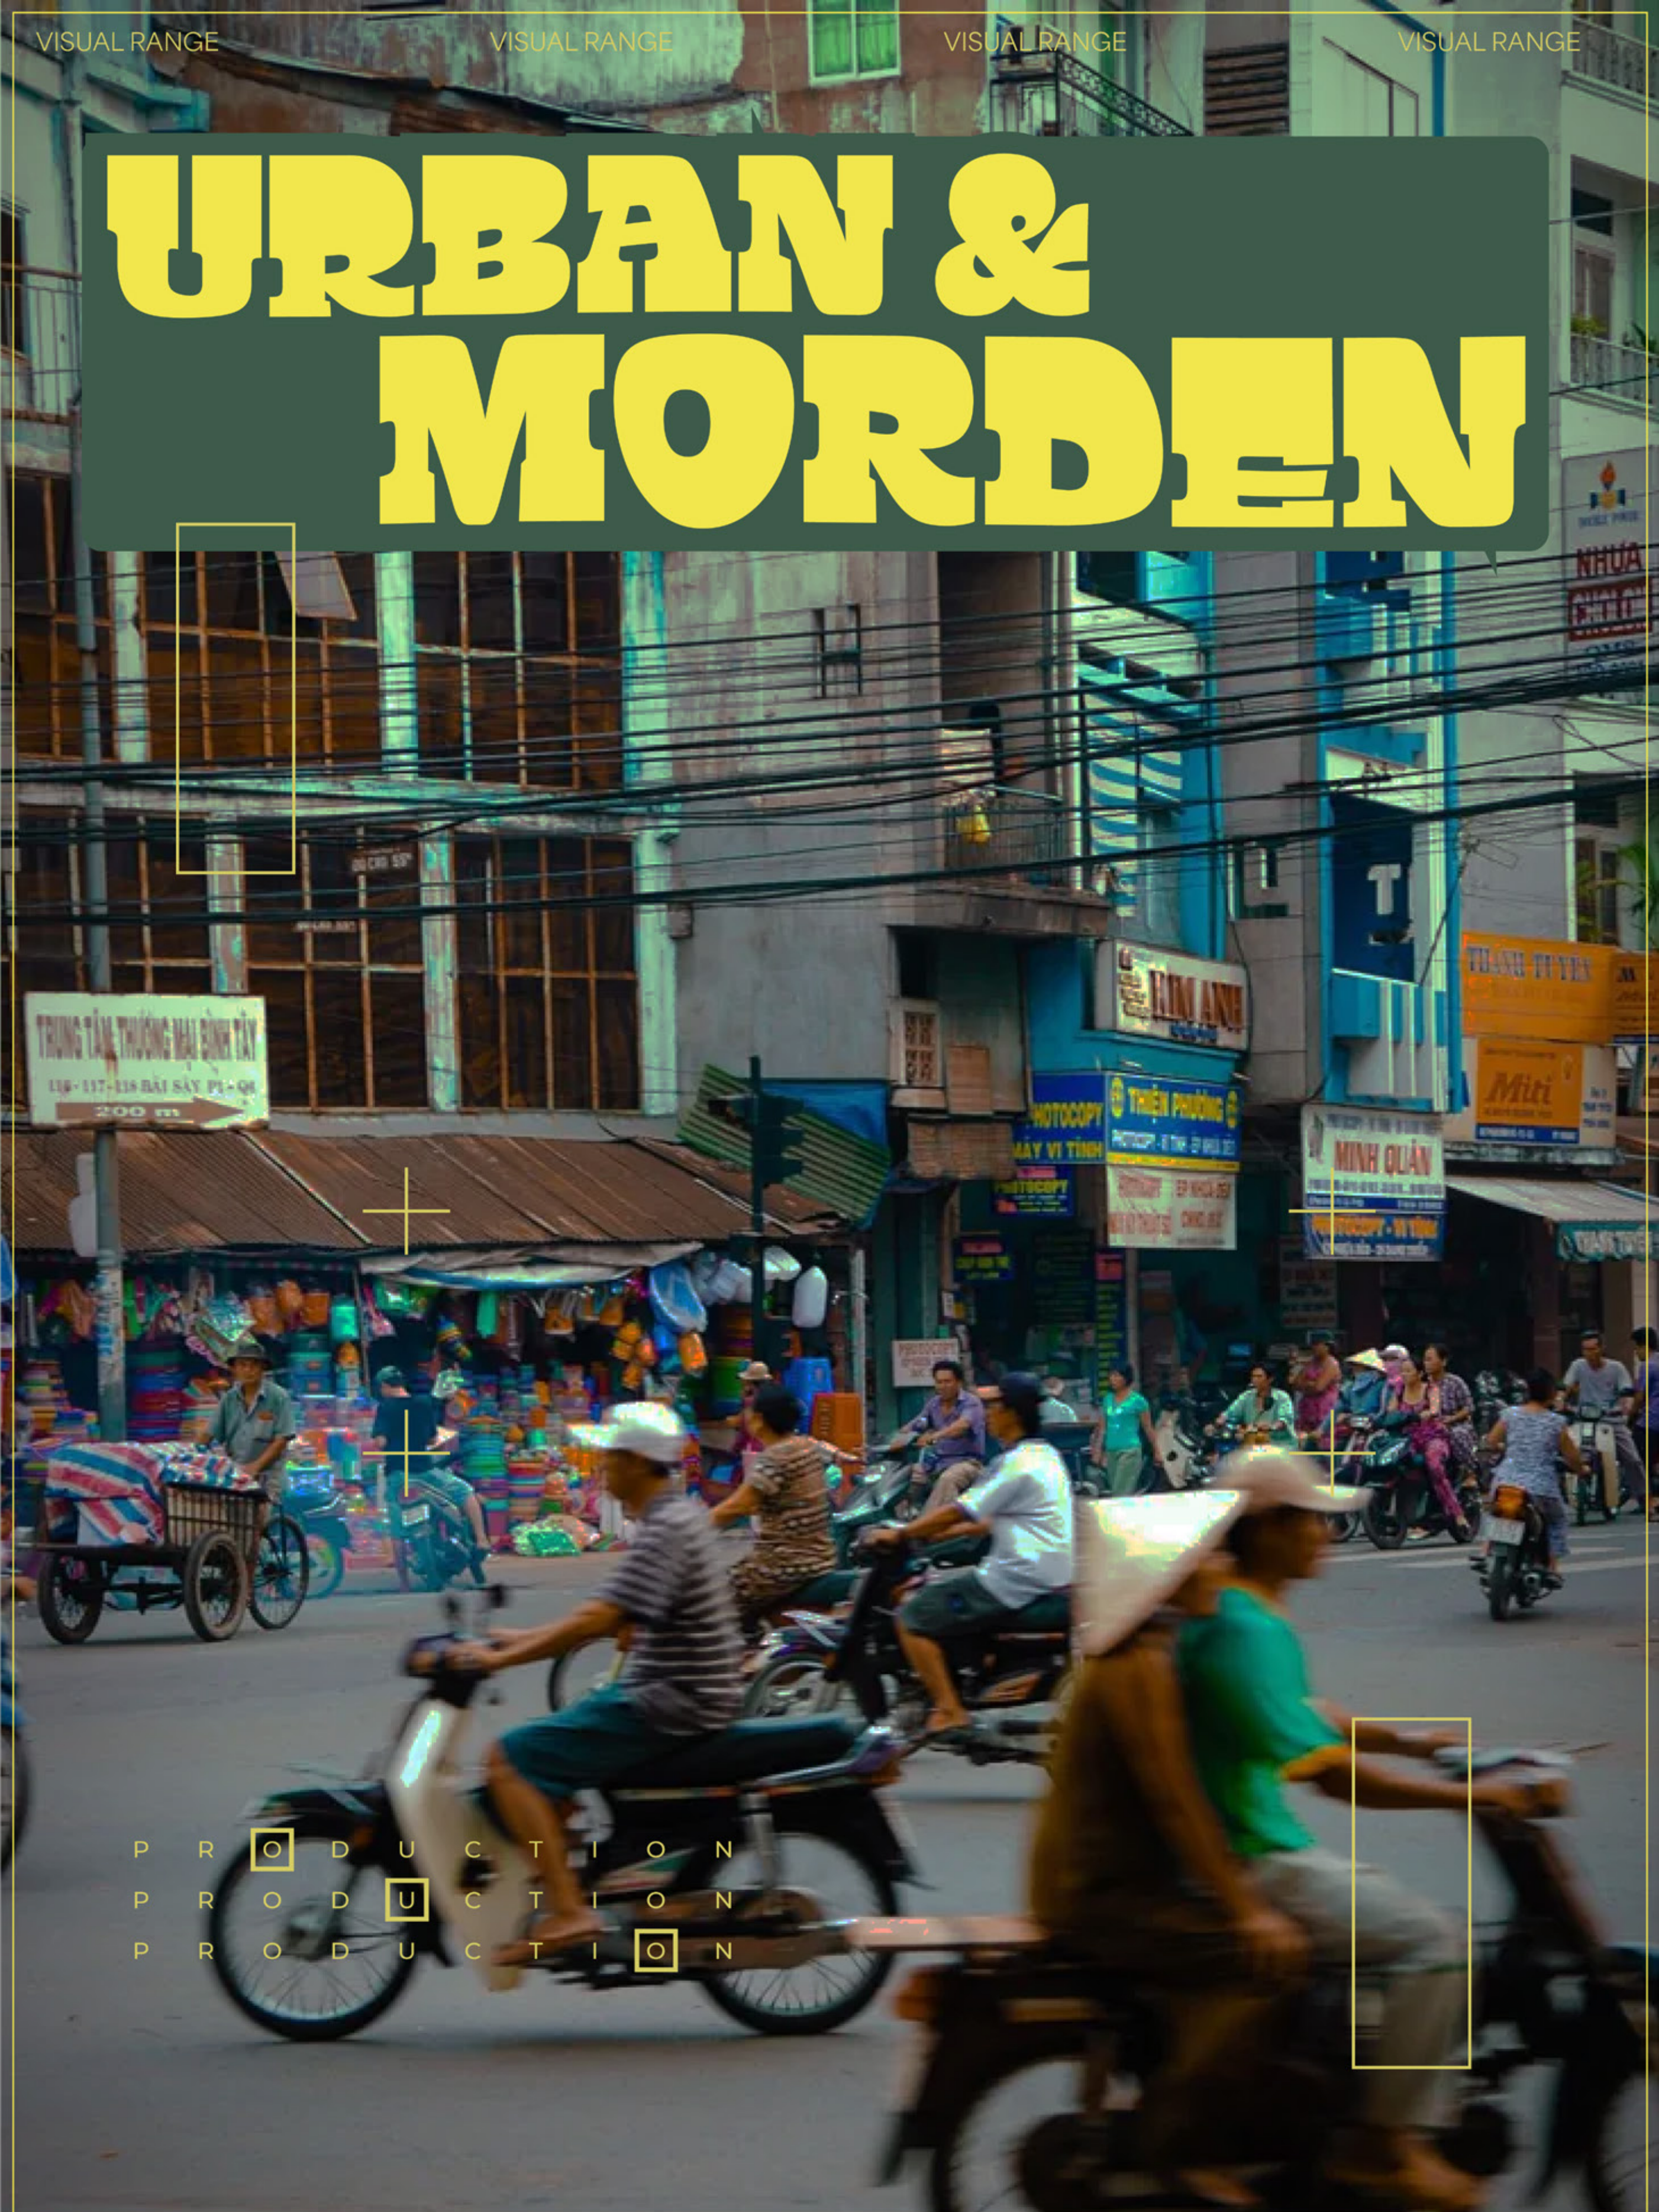

Few countries offer the visual diversity of Thailand within such a compact and accessible geography.

In a single production schedule, crews can move from futuristic city skylines and vibrant urban streets to ancient temples, tropical islands, limestone cliffs, dense jungles, rice fields, mountain landscapes, and luxury beachfront resorts. Thailand's remarkable range of environments allows filmmakers to create multiple visual worlds without crossing borders.

URBAN & MORDEN

P R O D U C T I O N
P R O D U C T I O N
P R O D U C T I O N

Bangkok Dynamic urban backdrop where sleek skylines, neon lights, and contemporary architecture perfect for high-octane action or futuristic narratives.

TROPICAL & IDYLIC

PHUKET

KRABI

filmmaking

Southern provinces like Phuket, Krabi, and Koh Samui offer iconic limestone cliffs, white sand beaches, and turquoise waters.

MOUNTAINOUS

Mountainous and traditional Northern regions, including Chiang Mai, Chiang Rai and Kanchanburi feature mist-covered peaks, dense jungles, and traditional villages.

TRADITIONAL

Ancient ruins in Ayutthaya and Sukhothai provide authentic backdrops for period dramas and historical pieces.

UNIQUE NATURAL • FEATURES •

Phang Nga Bay

Khao Yai

Phi Phi Islands

National Park

The country also hosts specialized landscapes that feel truly different from elsewhere like limestone islets in Phang Nga Bay and Phi Phi Islands or Thailand's largest intact Forest Khao Yai National Park

The country also hosts specialized landscapes that feel truly different from elsewhere like limestone islets in Phang Nga Bay and Phi Phi Islands or Thailand's largest intact forest Khao Yai National Park.

It is possible to film a sunrise in the mountains of Northern Thailand and be on a tropical beach location the next day – without leaving the country.

CULTURE PEOPLE

culture people the way of life

&

THE THAI WAY OF LIFE

FOOD AND LIFESTYLE

Yes, everyone goes to Raan Jay Fai.
The goggles. The flames. The Michelin star.
The three-hour wait. Jay Fai is the icon.
But Thailand doesn't run on one flame.

★ MICHELIN BIB GOURMAND

Nhong Rim Klong (หน่องริมคลอง)

Recognized and fiercely loved, this spot is known for serious seafood — towering crab omelettes and crab fried rice loaded with premium meat and unapologetic heat.

51 Ekkamai 23 Alley (near Thong Lo),
Klong Tan Nuea, Watthana,
Bangkok 10110, Thailand
Tel: +66 86 044 9478

Here Hai Wattana (เฮียไห้)

112/1 Soi Sukhumvit 63
(Ekkamai Rd), Klong Tan
Nuea, Watthana, Bangkok
10110, Thailand

Massive portions, premium crab, heavy-handed generosity. Their crab omelette and crab fried rice are packed — not sprinkled. Big flavor. Big fire.

Garlic (กาลีค)

44 Soi Chotiawat, Bang Sue,
Bangkok, 10800, Thailand
Tel: +66 89 182 2640

MICHELIN GUIDE

Head to this unassuming yet charming restaurant for Thai home-style cooking in Bang Sue district. For over 40 years, diners have been relishing the cosy ambience and a Thai menu that favours seafood over meat. The crispy pork pairs up with a distinctive apple sauce; the tom yum coconut soup is enriched by the flesh of young coconut for a flavour that is a delightful deviation from the norm.

Saeng Chai Pochana (แสงชัย โภชนา)

762/5-6 Sukhumvit Road, Soi 32
Tel: +66 81 376 0150

The legendary late-night Thai-Chinese spot on Sukhumvit in Bangkok that feels like street food turned institution. Open from evening into the early hours, it's where locals (and insomniacs) go for salty, satisfying seafood, porridge, and classic Thai-Chinese dishes that hit hard without pretension

